

Potential exam questions

Evaluate the effectiveness of the methods used by the writers of your two studied texts to present:

- characters who feel displaced or alienated because of their circumstances.
- characters who are frustrated by the barriers they face.
- Characters who experience isolation
- Characters who experience disruption
- Characters whose behaviour does not conform to society's expectations
- characters who experience conflicting emotions
- characters who struggle to conform to social expectations
- characters who are forced to re-evaluate their views
- characters whose experiences affect their sanity
- characters whose identity is in crisis
- characters who are caught between two worlds
- characters who are caught between the past and the present
- characters who cross the boundary between good and evil
- characters whose pasts shape their present
- characters who attempt to cross the boundary between superstition and science
- characters who experience confinement
- relationship between the present and the past

Combine these key words with these themes to create questions of your own in the style of the ones above.

boundary identity power divided memory trapped conformity acceptance and rejection prevented madness barrier
